Retd. Director of Health Services,
Assam
Ex-Principal, Institute of Paramedical Sciences, GMC, Guwahati.
Ex-Dean of faculties, Allied Health Sciences
Srimanta Sankaradeva University of Health Sciences (SSUHS)

In the present days with rapidly changing medical education scenario and health care delivery systems, allied health education has become more dynamic than ever before. In this dynamic environment our endeavour is to make our students competent, confident, self reliant, life long learners and ready for any eventuality. Our focus is on student centered education. Special efforts are taken to see if the students have acquired the necessary skills to become competent paramedics.

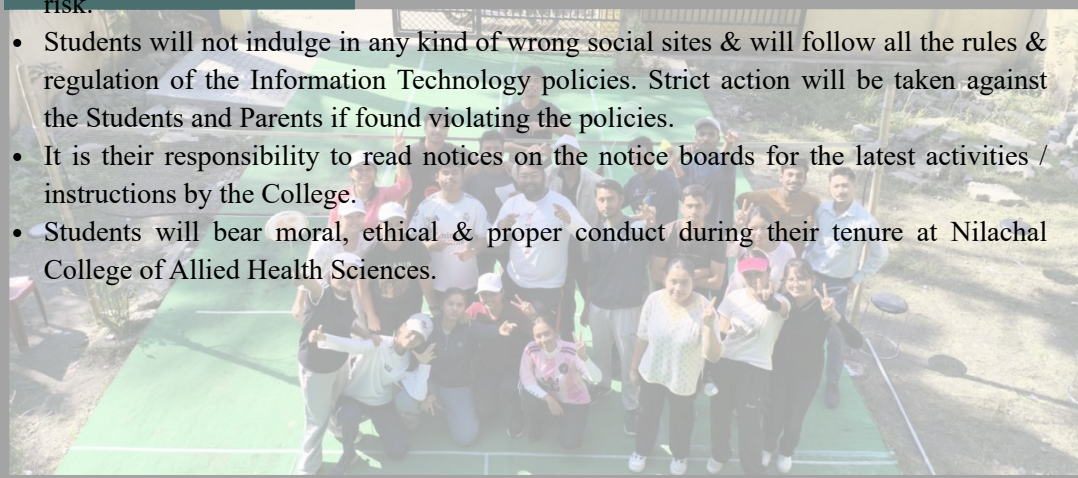

Nilachal College of Allied Health Sciences is established to provide standard education at par with the premier professional institutes in our country. The best facilities and environment are being provided to the students for their overall development. Although Allied Health courses are highly specialized, it remains fundamentally a caring profession. Our mission is to equip young boys & girls with knowledge, skills and personal attribute conducive to the needs of the society. Health care is a booming industry with a growing array of stable employment opportunities

In Assam as well as the North-east India, there is acute shortage of skilled and trained Allied Health- care Professionals. Though many institutions have come up in and around Guwahati in recent times, there is still a dearth of well trained Professionals, which can only be compensated with increased high – class training and education in Allied Health Sciences. As the Director of this esteemed institution as well as the President of Nilachal Education Foundation Trust, I invite you to be a part of this institute for a bright future and to meet the healthcare needs of not only our state, but also our neighbouring states.
